PROFILE

I am a doer who has succeeded in fast-paced office environment working as a recruiting consultant for five years. I successfully delivered numerous recruiting projects including at least five senior level (director and above) positions across the APAC region.

I am a quick learner who has excelled in studies of finance and economics with all A's (only three A-'s). I am capable of replicating my prior success in finance professions.

I am a problem solver who is passionate about using analytical approaches to inform financial, investment and other decisions, reflected both in my prior job accomplishments and academic excellence.

I am a challenge seeker who is highly adaptive as echoed in my cross cultural background. I know how to build relationships to effectively negotiate deals.
